D. MAG. (DIPLOMA IN MAGNETIC THERAPY)

MAGNETO THERAPY: This is an art of selection of magnets of different strength for different parts of the body in order to cure the ailments of diverse nature. This type of treatment is fast gaining popularity in countries like France, Germany, Japan, Russia, U.S.A. & India.

Healing is about restoring balance to the body. The physical body is electrical energy and is affected by anything with an electromagnetic field - such as magnets. If used corrected they can relieve pain and speed healing.

Examples of life's magnetic nature are now plentiful. Many creatures, such as homing pigeons, butterflies, and bees navigate using Earth's magnetic field. Even humans can roughly sense magnetic direction. These abilities, in part, appear to be mediated through a magnetic substance called magnetite, which has been discovered in the tissue, including the human brain, of many living things. Researchers have found magnetite clusters near the brain's all-important, magnetically sensitive pineal gland, which secretes hormones affecting the entire body.

Not only are we affected by magnetic fields but we also generate them. For example, scientists can measure the brain and heart's magnetic fields with instruments called the Magneto encephalograph and magneto cardiogram, respectively.

The magnetic healing renaissance has been remarkable. Millions of people throughout the world now use magnets, sales total more than $2 billion a year, and cost-conscious, some health-insurance companies cover the therapy.

In recent years some well-known athletes have used magnetic therapy for pain relief.

In terms of healing an area of the body, magnets are placed either on or near the body, where they act to stimulate the cellular and chemical area where the healing is to occur. That is, blood is accelerated to the area, which increases the oxygenation of the blood and dilates the blood vessels, providing additional oxygen and nutrients to the place in need of healing.

In terms of reducing pain, some doctors believe that pain reduction with magnets works similarly to using a heating pad. The magnets are again placed on or near the body, and are used to stimulate nerve endings by acting to interrupt pain signals to the brain. The difference is that heat treatment can be more intense, while magnetic healing is more constant. So, while you cannot wear a heating pad for hours at a time, you can wear a magnetic bracelet every day.

Remember immediately after magnetic treatment no cold baths or meals should be taken. Watches should be removed during treatment. Magnets must be kept away from children. When not in use magnets must be kept joined with a keeper in a wooden box. High powered magnets should not be applied to pregnant woman. Opposite poles of high power magnets must not be near each other face to face. All bio-magnetic aids must be kept away from fire.

Magnetic therapy is the application of external magnets on the human body for therapeutic effect. It is not something very new, but discovering its uses may be one of the most exciting discoveries of the decade for mankind. It is believed to be effective, economical, safe and easily applicable therapy to restore energy, enhance sleep and help in many other ways to contribute to good health.
